

FOURTH DAY
(Monday, July 17, 1978)

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock a.m., pursuant to adjournment and was called to order by the President.

The roll was called and the following Senators were present: Aikin, Andujar, Blake, Braecklein, Brooks, Clower, Creighton, Doggett, Farabee, Hance, Harris, Jones of Harris, Jones of Taylor, Kothmann, Lombardino, Longoria, Mauzy, McKnight, Meier, Mengden, Moore, Ogg, Parker, Patman, Price, Santiesteban, Schwartz, Traeger, Truan, Williams.

Absent-excused: Snelson.

A quorum was announced present.

The Reverend J. Carter King III, Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, offered the invocation as follows:

Eternal God, whom we affirm as Lord of all people and things, we recognize that we have not come here to pray, but to struggle with the issues and conflicts arising out of people, property, and government. Sensitize us to the value of people - Your highest form of creation - and give us the courage to place human need above all else. Remind us of the needs of the poor, the dispossessed, the chronically ill, and the sick of mind.

Lord God, we pray for these senators and their staff. Give them energy when they are weary. Give them strength when they feel bone tired. Provide them with insight and perception in the midst of difficult problems. Give them courage when they feel tempted, and above all, provide them with integrity amidst of their pressures. These things we ask in the name of our Lord Jesus the Christ. Amen.

On motion of Senator Aikin and by unanimous consent, the reading of the Journal of the proceedings of Wednesday, July 12, 1978 was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Senator Snelson was granted leave of absence for today on account of important business on motion of Senator Aikin.

WHEREAS, A. M. Aikin, Jr., Dean of the Texas Senate since 1963, has served 45 years in the Texas Legislature and is the next-to-longest-serving state legislator in the United States; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin has served in the Texas Senate since 1937, longer than anyone else; he has been a member of the Senate Finance Committee ever since he entered the Senate and its Chairman, first in 1941 and continuously since 1967; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin's continued championship of public education has earned him the title of "friend of the Texas school child" from educational organizations; and

WHEREAS, As a youth, Dean Aikin went to a rural school where three teachers taught 10 grades; rode horseback four miles to Deport to finish high school; and milked cows to work his way through college, and has said of his legislative service, "I came here thinking a child ought to get an equal educational opportunity whether he was born in the middle of an oil field or in a cotton field. That was the underlying principle of the Gilmer-Aikin program. I still believe that."; and

WHEREAS, His legislative accomplishments in public education have created the system serving our young people today through the 1949 package of Gilmer-Aikin laws establishing the formula for financing public schools which stands today; through continued work to revise and improve this system; through support for funding and improvement of facilities at schools for the deaf, blind, and retarded; through sponsorship of junior college appropriations; through coauthorship of legislation creating the Commission on Higher Education, the predecessor of the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System; through support for proper salaries for school teachers; and through cosponsorship of the bill creating the teacher retirement system; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin's special feeling for the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute led him to sponsor the center's first legislative appropriation of $300,000 in 1941 and to continue to support M. D. Anderson whose state appropriation has grown to $90 million for the 1978-1979 fiscal period; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin has not limited his interest to these areas but has made his imprint in all areas of state government, including his dedicated work toward expanding the state's farm-to-market road system; and

WHEREAS, His role as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has enabled him to exercise powerful influence over state spending and taxation; his prudent approach to state spending has been a major reason this state enjoys one of the best tax situations in the country; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin has consistently adhered to his philosophy of government, "use common sense, be conservative and reasonable and do the job honestly and fairly," and regards all fellow legislators as friends, often admonishing other senators to disagree without being disagreeable; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin is the most respected member of the Texas Senate who credits his success to hard work and gentlemanly agreement; and

WHEREAS, In his 45 years in the Texas Legislature, he has only been absent two half days, always pays his own filing fees, regularly returns expense money to the state treasury, and closes his office between sessions saying, "Nobody wants to come down here and just visit my secretary. People know they can find me at the store in Paris.”; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature celebrated A. M. Aikin Day with a joint session in 1973 and hung his portrait in the Senate Chamber; and

WHEREAS, In 1974, the Legislature chose him as vice-president of its constitutional convention following a nominating speech by Senator Tom Creighton which said, in part, “He can remember when Texas had more brick roads than concrete highways. He has talked to those who came here when much of the state was still virtual wilderness and to the descendants of those who fought for Texas’ independence. No one could better understand the importance of drafting a constitution which continues to respect and reflect the heritage of this state.”; and

WHEREAS, During the past two regular sessions, at Dean Aikin’s request, Senators unanimously approved the state appropriations bills, which he regards as a major accomplishment; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin has been the conscience of the State Senate and has been said to have the lowest voice and the greatest influence of any member of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, Governor Dolph Briscoe has said of Dean Aikin that “No more honorable person ever served in government. He is a true gentleman.”; and

WHEREAS, Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby has said, “Senator Aikin is a man, not only of unparalleled rectitude and integrity, but he is in the finest sense of that overused term, a gentleman. In addition to that, he has a rare capacity for friendship. Indeed, the privilege of the association with and friendship of A. M. Aikin is one of the highest privileges attendant upon service in the government of Texas.”; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin has shared his life and his work with Welma Morphew, whom he married in 1929 and still calls “Miss Welma,”; their son A. M. Aikin III, and their four grandchildren; and

WHEREAS, Only the crippling pain of rheumatoid arthritis could slow him down and has caused him to decide not to seek re-election to the Senate after his present term ends next January saying, “I love the Senate and I know I will miss it, but my health is such that I am afraid that I could not carry my part of the load, and that would not be right.”; and

WHEREAS, Dean Aikin may not be at his front row center desk next January, but those who serve with him and those who have served with him will not allow him to truly leave the Senate because we will always need his wise advice and warm encouragement; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the Senate of the State, That Dean A. M. Aikin, Jr., be named Dean Emeritus of the Texas Senate for Life with all the rights and honors appropriate thereto; and, be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this Resolution be given Dean and Mrs. Aikin, A. M. Aikin III, and the Aikin’s four grandchildren in remembrance of his service to the State of Texas.

The resolution was read and was adopted.

Senator Aikin then addressed the Senate, expressing his gratitude for the Resolution and for the privilege of serving the Senate.
